PINCHOT INAUGURATED DECLARES MANSION DRY

New Governor Takes Oath of Office at Harrisburg on Tuesday.

SIMPLICITY THE SLOGAN

Gifford Pinchot was on Tuesday at Harrisburg inaugurated as Governor of Pennsylvania with ceremonies in which simplicity was the outstanding feature. Colonel David J. Davis was also sworn in as Lieutenant Governor.

A large crowd was assembled at the entrance to the grounds leading to the capitol when the oath was administered to the new Governor. Amplifiers erected overhead at the stand where Governor stood as he delivered his inaugural address carried his voice so distinctly that it could easily be heard by spectators several blocks away. In assuming the office of Governor, Mr. Pinchot declared that he would give to the people of Pennsylvania a "Roosevelt square deal," and with emphasis he announced that these three matters will stand paramount in his administration:—

The financial condition of the Commonwealth.

Reorganization of the state government.

Prohibition enforcement.

Regarding prohibition enforcement, Governor Pinchot declared:—

"This administration will be dry. The Executive mansion will be dry. The personal practice of the Governor and his family will continue to be dry. I shall expect and demand from every public servant appointed by me, or subject to removal by me, from the highest to the lowest, entire and ungrudging obedience to the Eighteenth Amendment and the Volstead law."

The Governor's announcement placing all State employees on a "dry" basis, created a mild sensation.

In readjusting the financial condition of the State government the Governor will send to the Legislature a budget which will reveal the severe reduction of appropriations for various institutions which he found necessary to keep expenditures within estimated income. Some of these reductions when compared with amounts heretofore allowed such institutions, will come as a shock to the public. Pennsylvania State College will be but one among many to suffer in this respect. It is not known at this time how severely State College will be hit in this necessary pruning process, but it may be expected that the cut will be a substantial one and that the amount included in the budget will provide for little, if anything, beyond actual needs for maintenance for the next two years. Every other institution receiving State aid is in the same boat.

"We are going to live within our income, as every family should," announced Governor Pinchot.

One of the last acts of the new Governor before being sworn in was to announce the appointment of Samuel M. Willis, of Delaware County, as Secretary of Agriculture to succeed Frederick Rasmussen. For several days it appeared that E. K. Hibbsman, of State College, the very efficient assistant to Dr. Thomas, the president of Penn State, might be given the honor. Entirely unsolicited, he was strongly recommended to Governor Pinchot by leading agriculturists. Mr. Willis, the new Secretary of Agriculture, is treasurer of the State Grange. In announcing his appointment, Governor Pinchot said:

"I have asked Frank P. Willis, of Concordville, Delaware County, treasurer of the Pennsylvania State Grange, to take the post of Secretary of Agriculture in the new administration. Mr. Willis is one of the two or three most widely known farmers in Pennsylvania, and a dirt farmer as well. We have worked together for many years in the State Grange, and in the National Board of Farm Organizations. His practical wisdom, wide and profound knowledge of the farm question, not only in Pennsylvania but in the whole United States, and his remarkable success as president of the Interstate Milk Producers' Association, give him ample promise of a sound and successful administration of his department. I am in luck to get him."

Representative Thomas Beaver captured several fine honors for Centre County in the awards of chairmanships and memberships of House committees. Mr. Beaver was appointed by Speaker Goodenough as chairman of the House Committee on Game, by virtue of which he will be in position to render great service to hunters in this section. Mr. Beaver was also appointed a member on the Appropriations Committee, the Agricultural Committee, as well as the Committee on Mines and Mining and the Committee on Railroads.

Governor Pinchot requested Dr. Finegan, superintendent of the state department of education, to continue in his office at least until June. The Governor also re-appointed N. E. Baller, commissioner of state fisheries.

STOCKHOLDERS MEETING

Board of Directors and Officers of Bellefonte Trust Co.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Bellefonte Trust Co. was held on Tuesday morning and was followed by an informal and delightful social luncheon at the Brockerhoff House. The outstanding features of the report of the company's growth and the treasurer's comparative statement was the remarkable increase made during the past four years—from January 1, 1919, to January 1, 1923—showing an increase in deposits of 52 per cent and an increase in assets of 47 per cent. Deposits in 1919 on January 1st, were $685,160.52 and the same date, 1923, were $1,046,636.41. The assets on January 1st, 1919 were $890,043.43 and on January 1st, 1923, were $1,314,416.27.

The stockholders increased the board of directors from seven to nine and named a new member to succeed the late C. T. Gerberich. The six directors re-elected were J. L. Spangler, A. C. Mingle, Claude Cook, A. R. McNitt, C. Y. Wagner, N. B. Robb. The three new directors selected were Dr. J. L. Seibert, Frank Weizler, Wm. J. Emerick. The officers were re-elected as follows: J. L. Spangler, president; A. C. Mingle, vice president; N. E. Robb, secretary-treasurer; E. S. Orr, assistant secretary-treasurer.

The stockholders, remembering the faithful service of Chas. F. Cook, who resigned on January 1, 1923, after being with the bank for 22 years and completing 55 years of bank work, made a resolution to pay him a salary of $1,000 from January 1st, 1923, to January 1st, 1924, at the rate of $83.33 1/3 per month. This highly complimentary advance to Mr. Cook indicates better than words the high regard which the stockholders had for his service.

N. E. Robb, in a statement regarding business said, "Our business can be conducted with so much more efficiency in our new quarters. This is one reason why we are able to make such a nice increase in business. The outlook for business in 1923 is very bright."

Right Hip Fractured.

Mrs. Salinda Shutt, who resides with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Richard S. Taylor, of East Howard street, fell and painfully injured herself while walking on the payment in front of the Mitchell Garbrick residence on Sunday morning. She was going to church services when the accident occurred and had not gone far from the Taylor home as the Garbrick residence is also on the same street. She was taken to the Bellefonte hospital and an X-Ray picture was taken on Monday morning to ascertain the extent of the injuries. It was then found that she had suffered a fracture of her right hip. While Mrs. Shutt is well along in years, it is hoped that the injury will respond to treatment.

Loehr—Gillette

Harry Loehr, a son of Mr. and Mrs. William Loehr, of Clarence, and Miss Ruth Gillette, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Gillette, of Snow Shoe, were united in marriage at Williamsport on Tuesday at the Pine street M. E. parsonage by the Rev. John H. Daugherty. One of the attendants was Mrs. H. G. Frymire, a sister of the bride. The groom is an employee of the Lehigh Valley Coal Co. They will reside at Clarence.

Fell and Struck Saw.

Harry Burns, employed by the Bellefonte Lumber Co., had the first two fingers on his right hand cut painfully, when he struck a rapidly revolving circular saw after throwing out his arm when he slipped and fell while at work one day last week. While the saw cut the ends of his fingers and "nipped" the bones, the injuries are not expected to be serious unless infection should cause trouble.

Business Men's Banquet

At the regular meeting of the Associated Business Men of Bellefonte on Wednesday evening the annual banquet was held in the Brockerhoff House on Feb. 8 was considered. The principal speaker at the banquet is to be Harry Schmidt, of Harrisburg, head of the Kiwanis club of Pennsylvania. His subject will be "Co operation in Civic Affairs."

CHAUTAUQUA WILL COME AGAIN UNDER NEW PLANS

Five Days of Regular Entertainment at Reduced Guarantee.

GUARANTORS SECURED

Swarthmore Chautauqua will come back to Bellefonte in 1923, but under somewhat different plans than heretofore, according to announcement of Miss Ruth E. Cann, of Swarthmore, who had been at the Rush House while here securing guarantors and making preliminary preparations for the continuance of this entertainment liked by a large number of our citizens.

The Swarthmore Chautauqua was made possible for Bellefonte through a novel plan advanced by Miss Cann and approved, according to the young woman, by the directors at Swarthmore. The new plan changes the guarantee from $1,800 to $1,260, removing the big drawback in securing guarantors at the close of the 1922 Chautauqua and which resulted in much doubt as to whether this section would secure the entertainment again. The old plan made it very essential to secure 100 guarantors, which was also a drawback, whereas the new plan needs only 70 guarantors, which number has been secured, Miss Cann reporting 76 on Saturday afternoon.

The plan which brought a lower guarantee and required fewer guarantors, briefly, was that Chautauqua will come only 5 days instead of 7. The same entertainments will be given excepting that the two days shortened program means just that much less expense.

The list of guarantors secured by Miss Cann is given as follows:

Cecil Walker

ROY CLEMENTS' AUTO WRECKED BY LEWISBURG

Freight Train Struck It on Railroad Crossing.

SUSTAINED MINOR CUTS

Roy Clements' Ford touring car was wrecked on Monday evening about 9 o'clock when the freight train on the Lewisburg branch, coming into Bellefonte, struck the auto as Mr. Clements was crossing the tracks near the Clyde Jordon store. The car was towed into the Wion garage for repairs. Mr. Clements was alone and was fortunate, under the circumstances, in escaping with a few minor cuts.

He had taken Herman Hazel to his home in Bash Addition and was returning to town. It is said he stopped before going over the crossing but failed to notice the train, being somewhat blinded by the arc light in front of the Jordon store. The train had also stopped, as customary, to call the operator at the tower.

The engine was running slow, therefore, and did not throw the touring car but pushed it some distance before the train could be stopped. In this manner the car was considerably damaged but it accounts for the driver's escape from serious injuries.

This is the second time in about two weeks that the car has been damaged in thrilling accidents, the first being on New Year's eve when it skidded and raced down Reservoir hill, stopping at a guard rail in front of the Brant House.

MOTORIST PAID DEARLY

Car Wobbled Over Road and He Was Arrested.

Giving his name as Chester P. Clements, of Philadelphia, and his destination as Bellefonte, a motorist driving a Durant car, paid dearly when placed under arrest by officers from Lock Haven last Thursday. He was fined $100 and costs of $25.80 and his car was stripped of everything of value.

Clements was accompanied by a young man who gave his name as Rodgers. After leaving Williamsport, the Lock Haven officers were informed to be on the lookout for the car as it was alleged the men were driving as though intoxicated.

The car got through Lock Haven without being detected, however, and seemed to be O. K. until it was ditched in the deep snow along the side of the road at Lamar. Clements was taken before a Lock Haven Alderman and gave a bail bond of $300, signed by H. H. Crissman, of Lockport, the car being turned over to him as security. Crissman had the car put in a garage on Fallon Court, and it had been stripped during the night of tires, tubes, extras and tools.

Friday afternoon Clements was tried before Associate Judge J. Harris Musina, who conferred with Judge Eugene Baird and District Attorney J. J. Kintner, then imposed a fine of $100 and costs on the prisoner, who was discharged after settling.

Coaster Injured.

Miss Eleanor Barnhart, 13 years old, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James K. Barnhart, was very painfully injured on Saturday evening while coasting on Spring street, not far from her home. With her friend, Miss Rachel McKelvey, the girls were coasting from Linn street down Spring past the armory. On the unfortunate trip, as they reached Lamb street, another sled on which Charles Cruise and little Miss Louise Meyer were coasting collided and the force of the impact caused Miss Barnhart to be thrown. She had her left shoulder hurt. On Monday morning an X-Ray picture was taken to ascertain the extent of the injuries and it was found that her left collar bone was dislocated and that muscles and tissues about it were injured. None of the other coasters were injured.

Fire Caused Little Damage.

Fire in the double dwelling house on Willowbank street occupied by Ralph Edmiston and family, last Friday morning, caused little damage. Both fire companies responded but the flames, which had started about the stove pipe at the fire in the kitchen when some loose wall paper became ignited, had been extinguished.

Bellefonte Academy Won.

In an interesting game of basket ball between the Bellefonte Academy and the strong Nypen club team of Lock Haven in the armory on last Saturday evening, the home team won by a score of 30-21.

FIRE MARSHALL RE-ELECTED.

Business Quickly Disposed of at Regular Session of Council.

Robert Kline was re-elected fire marshal of Bellefonte for another year by members of Council in meeting on Monday evening. In recommending him for re-election, Councilman J. M. Cunningham, said, "We recommend Mr. Kline upon the good record he made in 1922."

Drivers for the combination pumps were appointed as follows from the names suggested by the fire companies: LOGAN—J. Storch, Ellis Hinds, Max Gamble, Homer Barnes.

UNDINE—George Carpeneto, Charles Saxton, Ralph Moerschbacher, Basil Doll.

Council opened with verbal communications, Walter Cohen and Frank Crawford, in the interest of the Associated Business Men of Bellefonte, asking that consideration be given their plea for protection from vendors who come to town almost every day and sell indiscriminately to the disadvantage of the merchants and the detriment of the patrons. They mentioned several cases in particular where, it was alleged, men came to Bellefonte and sold on the streets and in factories goods at higher prices than the merchants would ask for similar quality and then took the money out of town, doing harm and injury to the town. It was noted that there is an ordinance which requires all who desire to sell here to secure a license at a fee from $25 to $100. Councilmen promised to give the matter consideration.

The street committee gave a routine report.

The water committee reported collections of $25.50 on 1921 water duplicate.

The fire and police committee then made their recommendations.

Nothing was said about the proposed milk ordinance which is still in the hands of the committee and the borough solicitor.

A motion was entertained that Clerk W. T. Kelly request the fire marshal to have all hose carefully dried on the towers at each fire house after each time it is used.

Dr. David Dale's appointment as a member of the board of health has expired and it was unanimously decided to re-appoint him for another term of five years.

A. M. Barr was appointed as auditor of the Prisoner orphanage accounts and the appointment approved.

A motion to renew a note for $3,000 and pay interest on same, was adopted.

Marriage Licenses.

Register Frank Sasserman has issued the following marriage licenses:

Martin Woodie,	Port Matilda
Evelyn P. Pascock,	"
Andrew Panik,	Clarence
Annie M. Planko,	"
Harry F. Gearhart,	Pine Grove Mills
Hazel E. Thompson,	"
Harry C. Eisenhauer,	Aaronsburg
Velma Seyler,	Milheim
John Henry Garland,	Sandy Ridge
Catherine L. Corman,	Edendale
William A. Miller,	Altoona
Labella M. Bloom,	Centre Hall
Elmer Hockenberry,	Bellefonte
Goldie V. Emel,	"
Jacob R. Houser,	Bellefonte
Marie M. King,	"

Coasted Into Automobile.

A group of Bellefonte Academy students on a large cutter, coasting down Bishop street on Saturday, in front of the Haag House collided with the Ford ranabout owned and driven by William Martin, who was going to his home east of town. The car was put out of commission and was towed to the Beatty garage for repairs. Mr. Martin was not injured and the coasters were fortunate in escaping injuries as the cutter had gained considerable speed by the time it crashed into the car.

Engagement Announced.

The engagement of Miss Rose Vernon Walker, daughter of Cyrus Walker, of State College, to Prof. Fred Merkle, of Monson, Mass., an instructor at the Penna. State College, was announced on Saturday afternoon at a bridge luncheon given at the home of Mrs. W. E. Shaffer, in Lock Haven, by Mrs. Shaffer and Mrs. J. W. Wolfe, of Jersey Shore, sister of Miss Walker. Twelve guests were present. The afternoon was spent in playing auction bridge.

Coaster Has Arm Fractured.

Russell, 12 years old son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Anman, of Bellefonte, while coasting on Saturday afternoon about 1 o'clock on the hill in the alley between Allegheny and Penn streets toward Howard street, had the misfortune to lose control of the sled which crashed into a telephone pole. The lad's right arm was fractured.

CENTRE COUNTY AUTO SHOW TO BE IN MARCH

Members of Association Plan Entertainment and Display.

IN BELLEFONTE ARMORY

The Centre County Auto Show under direction of the Centre County Automobile Dealers association will be held in the armory in Bellefonte from February 7 to 10, according to announcement made this week. The committee says it will be bigger and better than ever. A meeting will be held on Monday evening to approve of plans and to make arrangements in regard to the program, which is to include high class entertainment.

The members of the association are George A. Beezer, Bellefonte, president; C. E. Snyder, State College, vice president; Charles R. Beatty, Bellefonte, treasurer; John P. Lyon, Bellefonte, secretary; C. E. Snyder, John P. Lyon, Willis Wion and Chas. R. Beatty, committee on show. There are 16 members in the association and it is expected to display which should bring in a goodly showing of all models of cars sold in Centre County.

NASH CAR DAMAGED.

Altoona Man Said He Turned Out to Avoid Collision.

James Martin, of Altoona, while driving into Bellefonte, had his Nash car damaged at the curve near the property of Miss R. N. Rhoads, West Linn street, when it struck the curb. A front spindle was broken and the left rear wheel was smashed. It was taken to the Wion garage for repairs.

The accident occurred on Friday evening. Mr. Martin said he noticed another motorist drive swiftly from the opposite direction and feared a collision, so that he was forced to drive sharply to the right and was unable to prevent the damage to his car.

When it was found a new wheel was needed and that none of the desired type was in stock, a telegram was sent to the Nash service station in Philadelphia, with rush instructions, and the wheel arrived on Monday.

Good for Centre County.

The announcement that the Pennsylvania Railroad company has placed orders for the building of 300 passenger and freight engines, of which number 125 are to be erected at Altoona and Juniata during the year 1923, is good for Centre County, too. It means better transportation, lack of which has been a hindrance to local business and welfare for several years. It means continued prosperity for the district of which Altoona is considered a head and Centre County an important part. The estimated cost of erecting the engines given the shops in Altoona and Juniata is $18,000,000, much of which will be spent in this district. It gives an even brighter outlook for 1923 than that of 1922.

Defeated Bellefonte.

The Lock Haven High school basketball team defeated the Bellefonte High school five in Lock Haven on Friday evening, the score being 39 to 31. Bellefonte made Lock Haven fight hard to win, however, and made a splendid showing during the first half of the game the score at the end of this half being 13 to 10. It was the opening game of the basketball season in Lock Haven in interscholastic contest and was well attended. The Lock Haven High school girls were scheduled to play a game with the Spring Mill girls on Friday evening but this game was cancelled by Spring Mills.

Snow is Plentiful.

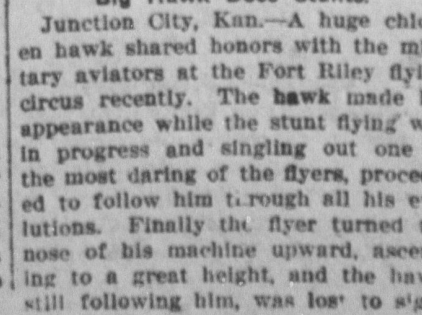

With a snowfall over Sunday, variously estimated at 10 to 14 inches in depth in different sections of the county, coming on snow that was from five to ten inches in depth, there is an abundance of the covering. In Bellefonte, the snowfall was 14 inches in depth on the level on Monday morning. At some other places in the county, it was several inches less.

Quarantine Notes.

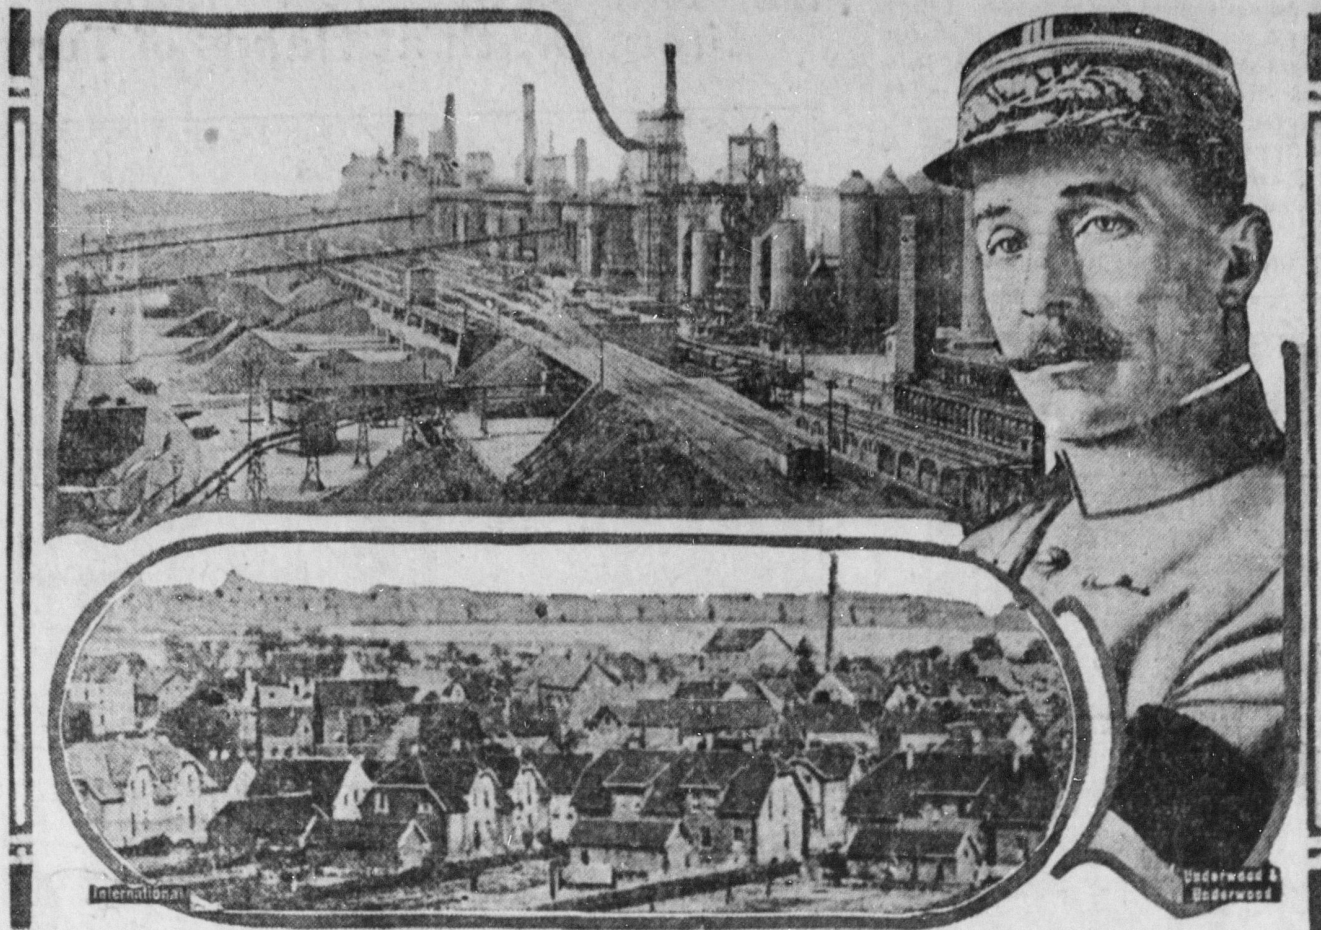

Leif Olsen's home in Petrikin Hall was quarantined for chicken pox on Monday. The home of Dr. R. L. Stevens had the quarantine lifted on Wednesday of last week and another quarantine for chicken pox put up last Thursday.

Nittany Man in Hospital.

John Condo, of Nittany, was admitted to the Teah hospital at Lock Haven last week as a surgical patient.

Germany's Industrial Heart Gripped by French

French engineers and customs collectors, protected by plenty of troops, have been sent into the Ruhr, the great industrial district of Germany, in furtherance of France's program for collecting reparations. The illustration shows, above, a view of the huge Krupp furnaces at Essen; below, a scene in the Ruhr mining region, and at the right, General Bunt, acting head of the French army, who directed the French move into the coal fields of the Ruhr.

Drawing Numbers in Cuban Lottery

This photograph, just received from Havana, shows the drawing of the numbers in the Cuban national lottery. Two globes are used, with patent gates which allow one ball to roll out at a time. The large globe holds all the numbers, the small one the prizes. Orphan boys do the drawing and call the numbers and prizes aloud for the judges to hear, no one else being allowed to touch the little ball.

TAFT'S NEW GRANDSONS

Chief Justice William Howard Taft became a grandfather twice in 24 hours—Sunday, Dec. 31 and New Year's day. The little ones, here seen in the arms of a nurse, are Seth Chase Taft, son of Charles P. Taft II of Cincinnati, and Lloyd Bowers Taft, son of Robert A. Taft, who also lives in the Ohio city. They were named after their maternal grandfathers.

THE AMERICAN LEGION

(Copy for This Department Supplied by the American Legion News Service.)

IS SECRETARY OF AUXILIARY

Miss Bess B. Wetherholt of Ohio Receives Important Position in National Organization.

Miss Bess B. Wetherholt of Gallipolis, O., has recently been appointed national secretary of the American Legion Auxiliary by Dr. Kate Waller Barrett, national president of the organization which is composed of mothers, wives, sisters and daughters of Legion members and men who died in the service.

Miss Wetherholt drew national attention when the membership of the Ohio Auxiliary was trebled during the first ten months she acted as secretary of that department. During the same period the number of local units was doubled. Miss Wetherholt was secretary of the Ohio department with headquarters at Columbus from the time the department was formed until she assumed the national office. The Ohio Auxiliary was also notable in its efficient work for the relief of sick and disabled soldiers in the hospitals of that state during Miss Wetherholt's term of office. She has also been president of the auxiliary unit at Gallipolis.

Miss Wetherholt was educated in the public schools of Gallipolis and in a private school at Cincinnati. Following her graduation from the latter institution she engaged in legal work. During the war she served in the statistics section of the ordnance department in Cincinnati. Her spare time was spent in organizing chapters of the American Red Cross.

Three brothers of Miss Wetherholt were World war fighters.

ENTITLED TO THE POSITIONS

Commander of Portland (Ore.) Legion Post Asserts Ex-Service Men Should Have Preference.

The ex-service man who has equal or better qualifications for a city government position is entitled to preference in appointment or election, according to James J. Crossley, of Portland, Ore., commander of Portland post, No. 1, of the American Legion.

Carrying his theory into action, Mr. Crossley was instrumental in the organization of a committee in his post charged with the duty of seeing that all veterans of the World war received a square deal in obtaining municipal positions. Working in close co-operation with the mayor and city commissioners, men and women recommended by the Legion have been named as municipal judge, superintendent of the women's bureau of the police department and chief clerk of the park bureau.

In many cases ex-service men have led the list of applicants for positions in the civil service examinations, according to Mr. Crossley. In the examination for chief clerk of the park bureau, Albert Rufner, an ex-service man, finished first.

Held Joint Celebration.

Three hundred American Legion members of Seattle, Wash., recently held joint celebration with Canadian and British veterans of the World war in a two-days' gathering at Victoria, B. C. The Legion delegation was met at the dock in Victoria by the 16th Scottish Canadian and Salvation Army bands and escorted to the Parliament building, where a public reception was held in their honor.

Where There Are Legion Posts, American Legion posts are now established in Alaska, Argentina, Belgium, Brazil, Canada, Chile, China, Cuba, England, France, Germany, Guatemala, Hawaii, India, Japan, Mexico, Panama, Peru, Philippine Islands, Poland, Porto Rico, Portuguese West Africa, Santo Domingo, Spanish Honduras, Turkey and Venezuela.

FITTS IS BACK IN HOSPITAL

Past Commander of California Department Incapacitated as Result of Recent Campaign.

In a Los Angeles hospital lies Buron P. Fitts, past commander of the California department of the American Legion, with the knee that was shattered by shrapnel in the Argonne once more in splints as a result of his strenuous activity in the campaign which obtained farm and home loans for needy veterans.

In efforts to obtain support for the ex-service men's measures before the recent election, Mr. Fitts made one of the greatest speaking tours ever undertaken in any state. He made 165 speeches in 152 towns in all parts of California. The physical and mental strain undermined the health of the Legion leader. In addition, in trying to keep all of his speaking engagements he often used an airplane. One of the planes in which he was riding crashed near Carpinteria, plunging Mr. Fitts under the wreckage and injuring his shattered leg. Recovering consciousness in the hospital, he began writing telegrams to be sent over California, urging the people to vote for the two issues he had fought for.

The measures the Legion hero fought for were accepted by the people of California by a 2 to 1 majority. Fitts' sacrifices will mean that California veterans may obtain farms or homes of their own at a low rate of interest and on easy, long-time payments. Also thousands of acres of California lands—provided for by the last legislature—will be settled by veterans with this aid. Taxation is not increased. The provisions are in no way a bonus, but every cent is to be repaid by the veterans with interest.

Mr. Fitts is a deputy district attorney of Los Angeles county. He obtained national note for his efforts in behalf of disabled ex-service men as vice commander, commander and national executive committeeman of the California department.

EX-SERVICE MEN VALUABLE

Director of Welfare Division of Large Concern Says Boys Have Lost Restlessness.

Men who fought in the World war have lost their restlessness and are becoming the most valuable employees of big business establishments, according to Henry A. Reninger, of Allentown, Pa., director of the safety and welfare division of a large cement company.

Mr. Reninger stated that the policy of his company was to give every man who went to war his old job or a better one when he returned and that ex-service men are given preference in employment which has developed since the war.

"There are a number of American Legion members on our safety and welfare committee," said Mr. Reninger. "Their service is of the highest order and they have become the hardest workers on our staff."

Before Mr. Reninger and his Legion assistants tackled the job of reducing accidents among the 5,000 employees of his company, 75 working days out of 100,000 were lost because of accidents. This year Mr. Reninger believes that the number of days lost will be only 25.

Mr. Reninger is a member of the Legion post at Allentown and has taken a prominent part in the Legion's activities in Pennsylvania.

SHE NEVER KNEW WHAT TO COOK

Husband Had Weak Stomach; Dared Not Eat Solid Food at All.

HE WAS HALF SICK; HAD A COUGH, ALSO

"I had a terrible time thinking up things to cook that would agree with my husband's stomach. He had stomach trouble a long time. Just the smell of ham and cabbage cooking would turn his stomach inside out. He couldn't eat any of his favorite dishes or solid food of any kind. He had an obstinate cough, also, that clung to him like death—winter and summer—seemed like he always had a cold and pains in his chest, and as he worked in a wholesale drug house here in Pittsburgh he heard about Hypo-Cod and began taking it recently, and it is positively wonderful what Hypo-Cod has done for him. After the first bottle you could see that medicine working on him. I never dreamed a medicine could work such wonders. It is better than the papers claim it is. His cough cured up completely on Hypo-Cod and then he began building up. His appetite came back with a rush and his stomach became so strong he can sit down and eat enough cabbage and pork for two men and he never gets filled up. The pains in his chest went away when that old cough disappeared and he has become strong and healthy as a man can be," enthusiastically states Mrs. Hugh Heenan, 239 Arter Way, Pittsburgh.

Everybody in the drug business in this section knows the Geo. A. Kelly Wholesale Drug Company. Every druggist in this section knows about Hypo-Cod. It is the most reliable, modern, and palatable, reconstructive, strength-building, nutritive tonic made. It has a pleasant taste and since price was recently reduced it costs no more than weaker, old-fashioned remedies, and it does the work days and weeks sooner. Don't risk coughs and stomach trouble this time of year. Build, fortify, strengthen, tone yourself up. Feel good, look good, sleep and eat good. Hypo-Cod—all druggists—$1.00 large bottle.—Advertisement.

Impending Change.

Patient—"Doctor, I'm completely buried in work." Doctor—"Well, that'll soon be changed to dirt if you don't quit."

FREEDOM FROM LAXATIVES

Discovery by Scientists Has Replaced Them.

Pills and salts give temporary relief from constipation only at the expense of permanent injury, says an eminent medical authority. Science has found a newer, better way—a means as simple as Nature itself.

In perfect health a natural lubricant keeps the food waste soft and moving. But when constipation exists this natural lubricant is not sufficient. Medical authorities have found that the gentle lubricating action of Nujol most closely resembles that of Nature's own lubricant. As Nujol is not a laxative it cannot gripe. It is in no sense a medicine. And like pure water it is harmless and pleasant.

Nujol is prescribed by physicians; used in leading hospitals. Get a bottle from your druggist today.—Advertisement.

Unkind.

"The word idiot," writes a philologist, "did not imply a lack of mentality until the middle of the Seventeenth century. It merely meant an average citizen."

"But what's the difference?—Exchange."

DYED HER SKIRT, DRESS, SWEATER AND DRAPERIES WITH "DIAMOND DYES"

Each package of "Diamond Dyes" contains directions so simple any woman can dye or tint her worn, shabby dresses, skirts, waists, coats, stockings, sweaters, coverings, draperies, hangings, everything, even if she has never dyed before. Buy "Diamond Dyes"—no other kind—then perfect home dyeing is sure because Diamond Dyes are guaranteed not to spot, fade, streak, or run. Tell your druggist whether the material you wish to dye is wool or silk, or whether it is linen, cotton or mixed goods.—Advertisement.

Mummy Understood.

"Mummy, why do gentlemen take typewriters to the theater?" asked Sammy, gazing at his father's machine.

"They don't, darling. Whoever put such an idea into your head?"

"Father told Mr. Brown he was taking his to see 'Decamander Nights' to-night."—London Tit-Bits.

Important to Mothers

An Understanding of Holly.

A mother and her two sons, age five and three, were shopping. Entering a downtown store the children became very quiet, and Dick took hold of his brother's hand, admonishing him not to make any noise "in here as some one must be dead." They had noticed the holly wreaths tied with ribbons that were a part of the Christmas decoration in the store.

If your eyes smart or feel scalded, Roman Eye Balm applied upon going to bed is just the thing to relieve them. Adv.

The Result.

"So the ladies of the civic league raided the poker game that has been running for months upstairs over the Palace drug store," asked old Riley Resendiz of Petunia.

"Ey-yah!" replied Constable Slackpitter. "And now, darn it, I ain't got a place to loaf an evening."—Kansas City Star.

odors be accurately catalogued.

Degenerate as the olfactory nerve sense in man has become through evolution, it still retains the marvelous ability to detect one part of camphor in four hundred thousand parts of air, and one part of vanilla in ten million parts of air. As for the obnoxious smell mercaptan, the human nose can detect the presence of one part in twenty-five trillion parts of air.—Popular Science Monthly.

How Icebergs Are Detected.

Icebergs are probably the greatest menace to trans-Atlantic shipping: it was an iceberg which sent the great Titanic to the bottom with such fearful loss of life.

A new device has been brought out by a French inventor which detects icebergs when they are six miles away. Melting ice sends out rays which are invisible to the eye, but which will affect a delicate instrument called the thermo-couple. This apparatus can be made so finely that it will register the presence of a lighted candle at a distance of half a mile.

The thermo-couple is connected to a telephone receiver on the bridge of the ship. When conditions are normal it emits a continuous note of unchanging pitch. As soon as an iceberg is approached, however, the note changes, and the look-out man knows at once that there is danger.

His Deduction.

"Land o' the livin'!" ejaculated Mrs. Johnson in the midst of her reading. "It says here in the paper that a bunch of scientific professors are going to Africa to hunt for humans with tails!" "Uh-huh!" nonchalantly replied Gap Johnson of Rumpus Ridge. "What do they aim to do when they find 'em? tie 'em up?"—Kansas City Star.

Today's Wise Word.

"The world is so full of the unexpected! To those who care more for people than places, around every corner is something new—a world only dreamt of, if that."—Cornelia Stratton Parker.

How a Bone Got Name.

Algebra is an Italian word derived from the Arabic al-jabr, meaning the reunion of broken parts. It was in early use in the sense of bone setting.

New College Councilman.

W. G. Murtorf, of State College, was chosen to fill the vacancy on the College Borough Council caused by the resignation of R. I. Webber. Mr. Murtorf is a brother of Harry Murtorf, of the Bellefonte Hardware Co. His appointment to Council is considered an indication of the recognition of the importance of the growth of the section in which he resides and known familiarly as the College Heights Addition.

Will Enlarge Hotel.

Announcement that Altoona's largest hotel, the Penn-Alto, built less than two years ago at a cost of over $1,000,000, is not adequate and that an addition of two stories, with 105 rooms, will be erected, indicates that the Mountain City is growing even beyond expectations of its own citizens.

Starvation and Disease Are Menace In Flight of Refugees From Turkey

These Armenian children, worn out and hungry, were found by Near East Relief workers and saved from starvation, following their deportation by the Turks.

Exhausted by their slow and weary flight toward Macedonia, vast swarms of refugees who crowd the country roads now face starvation and disease. Thousands will perish in the next few months it seems certain unless food is sent at once.

Scarlet fever has broken out and cholera and typhoid threaten, because of the utter lack of sanitation. There is a great need for doctors, nurses and medicines.

Children are the worst sufferers and the most pathetic. There is no milk for most of them. In the past few days many infants have been brought into the world without medical attention in the camps pitched along the roads at Drama. At Balava the roads are choked with weary refugees, who face starvation, because they have no mills to grind the wheat in their possession.

Outside of Dedagatch 20,000 refugees are encamped in tents provided by the Greek army. Hundreds of others, moving slowly toward Macedonia with their ox carts, crowd all the approaches to the town from the Maritza side. Fifty thousand of the disconsolate folk have been traveling afoot for ten days. Most of them have no food and very little water. The rain falls with disheartening steadiness and the cold has become more bitter, bringing on many deaths.

The Near East Relief is appealing for contributions to help save the lives of these unfortunates.

Four Gold Teeth Save Woman From Death at Hands of Turks

Mrs. Yacoubian and her son, Haig—refugees from the Turks.

The Turks called her "the woman of mystery."

She had the courage to defy a Turkish official—a thing unheard of in the Turk-ridden sections of the Near East, where women have been taught for centuries to be submissive to their "superiors"—men.

The fact that she is an Armenian Christian made this defiance all the more amazing, since it created wonder among the Turks that she had not been immediately shot to death or bayoneted.

She had four gold teeth, set prominently in her mouth—a sure sign of wealth in Armenia. Turkish superstition immediately associated the defiance with the gold teeth and agreed it was Allah's will she had so miraculously escaped death. And they admitted readily "the woman of mystery" was under divine protection.

It was this belief in a supernatural protection that ultimately permitted "the woman of mystery" to reach this country and make her new home in Philadelphia.

Her safe arrival in America and her reunion with the four children from whom she had been separated by the Turks, is an indication of the sort of helpful work being done abroad by the Near East Relief. Through its orphanages and other agencies in the Near East countries, it has saved the lives of hundreds of thousands destitute, homeless Christians and in thousands of instances has brought about happy reunions of homeless families.

The superstitions of the Turks stood her, "the woman of mystery," well in the troublesome days that followed a scene in the market place at Caesarea, when she saw a Turkish officer kill her husband and then held a gun to the head of one of her children and threatened to "blow him to pieces" if the mother didn't agree to become the officer's wife.

It saved her from death in a long march of 1800 miles with other Armenian women and enabled her to reach Constantinople and board an American vessel on its way to this country. She is now reunited with her four children after having undergone treatment at the hands of the Turks so atrocious that even those accustomed to witnessing harrowing scenes of Turkish cruelties hardly credit it.

This "woman of mystery" is Mrs. Yevnigh Yacoubian, now living at 234 South Sixth street, Philadelphia.

HOW

RECENT INVENTION WILL REDUCE PRICE OF SILK.

Silk has always been considered an article of luxury on account of its high cost in comparison with other textile materials, writes United States Commercial Attache H. C. MacLean from Rome. This has been due in large degree to the labor necessary in handling the cocoons and preparing the thread for spinning. Consequently the silk industry has flourished only in countries where cheap labor is available.

After soaking the cocoons in water the thread has always been unreeling by hand, which is a work of great delicacy, but one for which it has not been possible to pay high wages. Thus, while silk weaving in Italy has been making progress the preparation of the raw silk has shown a decline. It is now reported that an Italian silk expert has succeeded in perfecting a machine which will perform the operation of unreeling the thread mechanically. A new company has recently been formed, which has taken over the patents covering the invention and will manufacture the machines.

If the invention succeeds commercially as well as it has in the experiments that have been made it bids fair to revolutionize the silk industry, and, according to the inventor, the cost of silk may be reduced to such an extent that it will be able to compete with cotton and linen.

MAN'S NOSE SENSITIVE ORGAN

How Extraordinarily Minute Particles in Air at Once Affect the Olfactory Nerve.

Do you know why you have to "sniff the air" when trying to detect a faint odor? It is because the nerves governing the sense of smell are not located, as is generally supposed, in the nasal passages, but in an area of sensitive membrane about the size of a dime and located high above each nostril. A portion of the hairlike tips of the olfactory nerves terminating in this membrane receives the sense impression and conducts it to the brain. Because of the position of this membrane outside the natural path of the breath, it is necessary to draw aside a current of air by sniffing before the exact shade of odor can be determined.

The effects of snuff and smelling salts have nothing to do with the sense of smell. They react only on the linings of the nasal passages.

So far as physiologists have been able to learn, smells are pigeonholed in the brain as visual impressions. Each smell carries associations good or bad and these associated images are brought forth by the brain when particular nerves are excited.

The reaction of the brain to an odor depends also to a large extent on the sense of taste. Only by combining the brain reports of these two senses can

OVER THE COUNTY

Considerable sickness—mostly colds, grippe and minor ailments—is reported from Penn's valley.

Miss Verna Rowe, chief operator of the Bell Telephone Co., in Centre Hall, represented the Centre County exchange at the convention in Altoona last week.

T. F. Royer, of Potter Twp., has a litter of 10 Chester-white pigs which average 120 pounds each in weight at 14 weeks old. The successful stockraiser is almost 70 years old, but says he has never seen a finer lot of shoats.

The safe which was used by the Bellefonte Trust Co. prior to moving into the present quarters, was recently taken to Centre Hall and installed in the First National Bank in that borough. The safe was moved on an auto truck by M. R. Johnson who seemed to have no trouble whatever in handling the massive pieces.

The gasoline engine which was recently installed at the McMullin mill in Millheim, exploded one day last week. Fortunately, no person was in the room when the explosion occurred. The engine was completely wrecked. The engine house caught fire, but the flames were extinguished before doing much damage. The engine was installed after the long drought made the water power undependable.

John W. Confer had a highly valued sorrel horse die for him last week.

Income tax return blanks may be received at local postoffices and banks. They may be filled out any time now and sent in by March 15.

W. E. Shultz, tenant on the Zabler farm near Farmers Mills, is planning to make sale this spring. He will move onto a farm at Penn Hall.

Edward E. Shultz, of Sunbury, a railway mail clerk who frequently served on the Lewisburg train, died from injuries sustained when he fell from a tree he was trimming in front of his home.

The Schreckengast boys, H. E., Earl and Paul, of Centre Hall, got four foxes recently. Three were red and one gray. They used hounds to hunt the foxes and the dogs got lost, but were later recovered through an advertisement.

Mrs. Leah Christie, formerly of Pettin's valley, is accompanying her son, Ray on a tour of the northwest. She says it is much colder in that section than here and at one place in Canada the thermometer registered 20 degrees below zero. Her son recently underwent an operation and is recuperating. After the trip, he will again return to the profession he has been following, that of feature parachute dropping. Mrs. Christie will then return to Centre County, planning to make her home in Spring Mills.

Correspondence

Pine Grove Mills.

The heaviest snowfall was on Saturday night. Sunday old Boreas put on the blower, filling roads so that travel is through fields. The steam scraper cleaned the state highway permitting mail and busses to go on schedule.

Among the sick are J. W. Sunday, Mrs. C. E. Close and Mrs. H. S. Illingsworth.

Mrs. D. Geo. Reed spent Monday at the Fred Osman home on East Main St.

Mrs. Chas. C. Gates, with her two interesting children, visited with her parents in Tyrore.

Jas. B. Goss struck for high wages on Friday morning, going to Johnstown steel works, where a good job awaited his arrival.

A communication received from Henry McWilliams at Lancaster stated that the condition of J. T. Benchworth is quite serious.

A. S. Bailey and sister Nannie, in their new Reo car, motored to the county capital on Saturday mixing pleasure and business.

S. E. Ward and family closed the cosy home on East Main St. to spend the winter months with uncle Will McBeth at State College. The two boys attend High school there.

Mother O'Brien is having a bathroom installed in her cosy home on Church St.

Our mutual friend, Will Grove, has decided to quit the old home farm, where he was born and reared, raised a family, and was a successful farmer. He will dispose of his stock and farm implements in March and will retire for a well-earned rest for himself and wife.

Christ Houtz, now tenant farmer on the Snyder farm on the Branch, will tenant the Grove farm after April 1, 1923. Christ was Mr. Grove's first hireling when he commenced farming.

Rev. J. S. McAlarney is conducting a revival meeting in the M. E. church here to continue two weeks. Much interest is being manifested.

Communion services will be held in the Bethel Reformed church here Sunday at the regular hour. Preparatory services on Saturday at 7:30 p. m., by the pastor, Rev. S. C. Stover.

W. H. Jacobs, the venerable Civil war veteran who has been near the brink for several weeks, is now able to sit up. He served as a member of Co. M, 19th cavalry, was taken prisoner and languished in Anderson prison for six months.

Our mutual friend, H. S. Illingsworth, and wife, recently enjoyed a week's visit to his father, Rev. Ralph Illingsworth, of Columbus, O. After a brief rest he and his father went to the Windy City, spending three days there taking in the sights. But from what Henry saw out of the car window in the Middle West that good old Centre County in the good old Keystone state is good enough for him.

Chas. H. Martz, after three weeks visiting relatives in Cincinnati and Cleveland, O., returned home on Friday perfectly delighted with his stay and trip.

Wednesday, the 10th, at high noon, Harry Gearhart and Miss Hazel Thompson, halted at the Presbyterian manse at Centre Hall, where Rev. J. Max Kirkpatrick performed the ceremony that made two hearts throb as one. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Thompson, of Pine Grove Mills, and is one of our finest young women. The bridegroom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gearhart, of same place, and is a sober, industrious young man amply able to keep the good wife he got. Congratulations.

Oak Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. George Houser and family, of State College, were callers Sunday afternoon at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Grant Houser.

Miss Katherine McCaffrey Dead.

Miss Katherine McCaffrey died very suddenly from heart trouble on Tuesday evening about 9:45 o'clock. She had been ill for about one week but was thought better for several days and then suddenly expired before a physician could be summoned to her side. Born in Bellefonte, a daughter of John and Bridget McCaffrey, she was about 60 years of age and had resided here all her life, mostly in the South ward. Of a family of seven girls and two boys only three now remain, Miss Anna, Miss Mary of Bellefonte and Lawrence, of Pittsburgh. Funeral services will be held on Friday morning at 10 o'clock from St. John's Catholic church and burial will be made in the Catholic cemetery.

Mrs. Sarah Garber Dead.

Mrs. Sarah Ellen Croft Garber, wife of E. L. Garber, died at their home at Valley View farm at Charlottesville, near Tyrore, on Sunday evening from complications. Deceased was born near Baker's Summit, on October 28, 1868, and married Mr. Garber on August 15, 1888. Thirteen children were born to this union of whom ten survive. Her aged mother, Mrs. Catherine McClellan, of Bellefonte; one brother, Charles Croft, of McConnellsburg; one half-brother, Jacob McClellan, of Stormstown; and one half-sister, Mrs. Jennie Grubb, of Bellefonte, also survive. Funeral services were held this Thursday morning. Interment at Albright cemetery at Roaring Spring.

Mrs. John Uzzle Dead.

Mrs. John Uzzle, of Snow Shoe, died at her home on Monday morning from pneumonia. Had she lived until next month, she would have been 71 years old. She was born at Salt Lick, her maiden name being Eliza Watson. Her husband has been dead for eight years. The following children survive: Mrs. Russell, Mrs. Rena Bland, Mrs. Lemuel Zindie, of Snow Shoe; Melvin Derr, of Tyrore; John G., of Atlanta, Ga.; one brother, James Watson, of Va., and a sister, Mrs. Mary Snarrs, of Hyde City. Funeral services were held this Thursday afternoon and burial made in Askey cemetery.

George Poorman Dead.

George Poorman, of Windber, who was born in Bellefonte and reared here, died at his home on Monday evening from complications. Had he lived until March he would have been 74 years old. He was married to Miss Alice Fleck, who died ten years ago. No children were born to them, but they adopted a daughter, Miss Blanche Poorman, who survives with two sisters: Jennie, in California, and Mrs. Saul Poorman, of Bush Addition, Bellefonte. The remains were brought to Bellefonte and burial made from the train due here at 1:26 this Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Geo. S. Hazel Dead.

Mrs. Geo. S. Hazel, well known locally, died at Greensburg on Sunday evening from injuries received in a fall. The Hazels had resided in Greensburg for many years. Mrs. Hazel was Miss Della Sloteman, of Pleasant Gap. She is survived by her husband, seven sons, one daughter, one sister, Mrs. George Johnson, of Bellefonte, and one brother, Ambrose Sloteman, of Lock Haven. The remains were brought to Bellefonte on Wednesday afternoon and funeral services held in the Lutheran church at Pleasant Gap.

Surviving are his widow and the following children: Frank L., Joseph and Mrs. H. M. Harm, of Snow Shoe; Chas. W., of East Liverpool, O., and A. L., of Kautaus. Burial will be made on Friday in Askey's cemetery.

OLDEST ALTOONAN DEAD

Daniel Wagner Herring Was a Native of Centre County.

Daniel Wagner Herring, oldest resident of Altoona and a native of Centre County, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. C. L. Williams, on Saturday night. Had he lived until Feb. 5, he would have reached the 99th milestone. Death was caused by a stroke which he suffered on Tuesday morning of last week as he was descending the stairs from the second floor at the home of his daughter. Prior to that time he had enjoyed remarkably fine health and was accustomed to take little walks in the vicinity of the Williams' home each day when the weather was favorable. Born at Greensburg, Centre County, on Feb. 5, 1824, he moved to a farm near Eagleville when a young man and followed farming for an occupation until about 15 years ago moving in 1911 to Altoona to make his home. His wife, whose maiden name was Rebecca Dunaway, died many years ago. Two daughters, Mrs. Williams and Mrs. Frank Sparr, both of Altoona, survive. The deceased was a member of the Baptist church at Blanchard and the remains were taken to Blanchard on Tuesday for burial.

Mrs. Sarah Gibbs Dead.

Mrs. Sarah Trzcinylny Gibbs died at her home in Milesburg on Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock from pneumonia. She had been suffering from a cold for seven weeks. Born in Bellefonte on the site where the St. John's Catholic church is now located on October 13, 1847, she grew to womanhood in this section and spent practically all her life here where she was widely known. Her parents, Henry and Lavina Trzcinylny, deceased, were early settlers of Centre County, locating first at Phillipsburg and coming from there to Bellefonte. From Bellefonte, the Trzcinylnys located in Milesburg, and resided there many years, founding the Trzcinylny cemetery, which was cared for especially by Mrs. Gibbs during her latter years and which had its greatest development under her care. Her husband, Edward Gibbs, has been dead for many years. Surviving are one brother, Henry Charles, and an adopted daughter, Miss Oille Gibbs, of Milesburg. Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon and burial made in Trzcinylny cemetery.

Theodore Harper Dead.

Theodore Harper, one of the well known residents of Unionville, died at his home on Saturday evening as the result of a stroke he suffered May 1st, 1922. He was about 71 years old and is survived by his widow; three sons: Harry, Unionville; John Youngstown, O.; and Merrill Pittsburgh; and one daughter, Mrs. Sarah Culp, of Youngstown. One brother, John Harper, of Unionville, also survives. Funeral services were held on Wednesday afternoon. Interment in Union cemetery in Bellefonte.

Mrs. Nancy Lingenfelter Dead.

Mrs. Nancy Clarissa Lingenfelter, widow of the late Thomas Lingenfelter, died at her home in South Lakemont, Blair County, last Thursday evening. Deceased was a native of Pine Grove Mills, where she was born on July 10, 1845. She was a daughter of Jacob and Lydia Bottorf, deceased. Three children survive as follows: Mrs. A. V. Marcher, of Llysawen; Robert, of Phillipsburg, and Edna, at home. Funeral services were held on Sunday with burial in Rose Hill cemetery.

Robert L. Bower Dead.

Robert L. Bower, a native of Altoona who became a prominent lumber and coal dealer in Cambria and Clearfield counties, died at Blandburg on Sunday afternoon from heart failure. He was born March 17, 1865, and went to Lloydsville 35 years ago, moving into Blandburg, five years ago. His wife died last June. Surviving are two daughters and one son.

S. D. Cox Dead.

Samuel D. Cox, of Altoona, husband of Mary Ishler, of Boalsburg, died at his home in Altoona on Saturday morning. He was a native of Juniata County and was 60 years old. He is survived by his widow, one brother and one sister. Funeral services were held on Monday and burial made in Fairview cemetery.

Albert Gates Dead.

Albert Gates, a retired farmer of WarriorsMark valley, and father of Walter Gates, of Gratzville, died from apoplexy on last Thursday morning. He was born at Spruce Creek valley, January 7, 1844. Interment on Saturday in WarriorsMark cemetery.

Death of Infant.

Oppose Farm Bureau Federation.

According to an article in a recent issue of the Pennsylvania Grange News, official organ of the Penna. State Grange printed at Chambersburg, the National Farmers Union, one of the strongest and most influential farm organizations in the country, particularly well entrenched in the south and certain states of the Middle West, has openly declared war against the American Farm Bureau Federation as it is now conducted. In the opening of their fight, the National Farmers Union, in a statement are quoted as follows: "The American Farm Bureau Federation, however, has become involved in so many questionable activities, and the effect of its procedure has been so injurious to agriculture that, in justice both to the Farm Union and the farmers generally, who are entitled to know the difference between a genuine and helpful farm organization and one that is not, the time has come to make public at least some of the facts in the case."

STALLIONS FIGHT DUEL TO DEATH

Men on Steamship Look On as Big Black Animal Kills His Bay Rival.

BATTLE LASTS HOURS

Lives of Other Horses Threatened as Well as Lives of Members of Crew Who Attempted to Separate Mad Animals.

New York.—Officers and men of the steamship Margold, which reached Newark recently from Buenos Aires with its decks crowded with horses, were still talking of a battle fought at sea when two days out, between two huge stallions and which ended in the death of one worth several thousand dollars.

Through some carelessness in stowing the live cargo the two foes, a black and a bay, were placed in adjoining inclosures. Their natural wildness through a life on the broad pampas of Argentina was increased by the excitement of strange surroundings and throughout the first day of their incarceration in the dark hold of the ship shrill neighing followed by the drumming of hoofs on the stanchions and bulkheads sounded continuously.

Equine Rivals Meet.

At last, driven to a frenzy by the rolling of the ship, the black snapped the head chain, and plunging backward, crashed through the wooden bar behind him. His first act on gaining his freedom was to sink his teeth into the flesh of the bay in the next stall, and maddened by pain the latter also broke loose.

Then a battle between the two commenced, which lasted for hours and threatened the lives of the other horses as the two plunged, now and then rearing to strike out with their front hoofs and again wheeling to lash out with their heels. At length they reached a clear space underneath an open hatch around the edge of which the crew clustered to watch the final round.

Black Lands Knockout.

After circling cautiously about each other for a time, warily watching for an opening like two boxers, the black suddenly reared and crashed down with both hoofs on the head of his adversary. The other stood dazed for an instant by the impact, and in that moment the black seized his advantage and fastened his teeth in the back of the bay's neck, the death grip sought by wild horses as instinctively as the bulldog goes for the throat of his rival.

Despite the frantic efforts of the crew to separate the pair the black bore steadily down until the bay's head was pressed against the deck. Then came a sudden twist of the black's head, a sharp crack was heard, and the bay lay with a broken neck. His blood lust satisfied, the black was contented and was led quietly back to his stall.

Find Defects in Most Children

University of Iowa Physicians Give Results of Free Clinical Examinations.

SEEK TO HELP THE SUBNORMAL

Over 90 Per Cent of Defects Found Declared to Be Totally or Partially Correctable—Malnutrition Is Common.

Don't you think the kiddies ought to be given every chance to develop into worth-while citizens? What do you think of this campaign?

Iowa City, Ia.—An average of one physical defect for each of 956 Iowa children examined since September 25 has been found by Dr. John W. Prentice and Dr. Florence W. Johnston, University of Iowa physicians in the division of maternity and infant hygiene, who have been conducting free, clinical examinations in various parts of the state. Their work, however, has been aimed at the observation and suggested treatment of the physically subnormal rather than the normal child.

Over 90 per cent of the defects found were declared to be totally or partially correctable. The percentage of possible corrections decreases with the increasing age of the child.

Out of 956 children examined 952 defects were found. The defects multiply with the age of the child. It has been Doctor Prentice's observation that rural children have as many physical defects as do city children.

Malnutrition is found as often among farm children as among city children. Several reasons were ascribed to this; among them lack of variety in diet and defective teeth. The most frequent defects among rural children were found to be malnutrition, decayed teeth, enlarged adenoids and enlarged, diseased tonsils.

Need Variety in Food.

"Children need a variety of food elements as do livestock," said Doctor Prentice, referring to the well-balanced diet for farm animals that experts have prepared. "The rural children seem to get food in sufficient quantity but not the variety or balanced diet that enables all tissues of the body to develop properly. In other words, they live on a 'one-sided' diet. Children with bad teeth fail to masticate and digest their food well and they absorb and swallow harmful poisons that come from the decayed teeth."

Children examined at the clinics are scheduled in advance if possible. Their histories are taken, they are examined, a chart of their physical state is made, a summary drawn and treatments recommended for defects. This record is kept by the county or school nurse with the name of the family physician. A copy of this record is given the parents and they are instructed to take the child along with the record to the family physician.

About 50 per cent of the cases in communities where clinics have been held have reported to the family physicians as instructed, according to reports of nurses and physicians. It is believed this proportion will be greatly increased as the work advances.

Gives Advice on Diet.

In order to reach the children clinics are held in various towns and cities under the auspices of local physicians and county and school nurses. Doctor Prentice examines the children and Doctor Johnston acts as adviser to the "mothers on questions of child diet, prenatal and postpartum care. The university physicians are trying to make assets instead of liabilities out of the subnormal children of Iowa by pointing out possible corrective measures.

ures. Results have indicated that the money, time and effort have been well expended, report division officials.

"The success of this great work," said Doctor Prentice, "has been made possible by the splendid co-operation of the doctors and county and school nurses in the various communities where clinics have been held."

"During recent years the general health and physical condition of our city children have been greatly improved by the work of infant welfare stations, children's clinics, school clinics and many other such organizations. Likewise the maternity clinics have done much for mother and babe. And now we have the same opportunities brought to our rural communities through the work of the division of maternity and infant hygiene of the University of Iowa which is carrying out the provisions of the Sheppard-Towner law in Iowa. We need only bear in mind the high percentage of physical unfitness among our rural boys as found by the army examinations in the recent war to realize the importance of this work."

Sheds New Light on Egyptology

Unearthing of Royal Tomb Greatest Archaeological Discovery of Modern Times.

SEPULCHERS CUT IN HILLS

Tomb of Tutankhamen, 1350 B. C., Not Only Yields Vast Treasures, but Is Expected to Reveal Historical Lore.

London.—That the recent unearthing of a royal tomb near Luxor is the greatest archaeological discovery in Egypt in modern times already is certain. How great, in the light which it throws on the vanished civilization that has made the wisdom of Egypt proverbial down all the ages, the discovery may prove to be—this remains for the secret of the still unopened inner chamber to reveal.

The story of the discovery, made by the earl of Carnarvon, whose wealth has enabled him to devote himself to the costly hobby of Egyptology, and Howard Carter, perhaps the finest living archaeological draughtsman, reads like a romance. The valley of the tombs of the kings, where the find was made, is a desert ravine lying behind the barren cliffs and hills, which form the mighty walls of the Nile valley on the western bank of the river, some 450 miles above Cairo.

Sepulchers Cut in Hills.

Here the Pharaohs of the eighteenth, nineteenth and twentieth dynasties, covering the period from about 1550 to 1090 B. C., were laid

Fight Over Eight Cents Ends in Murder Charge

A quarrel over 8 cents resulted in the death of Henry A. Smith, fifty-two years old, at the hands of Hiram Denton, both of Clay county, Tennessee. Denton presented a bill to Smith for $1.88, but the latter insisted that he would not pay more than $1.80. Smith is said to have drawn a knife and Denton is charged with having killed him with a blow from a club.

to rest in sepulchers cut into the sides of the hills, the burial chambers being deep down in the solid rock, approached by flights of steps and corridors, generally ornamented by rich wall paintings and bas-reliefs. The existence of these tombs has been the common knowledge of all the centuries, though the precise location of each has not been known. For 2,000 or 3,000 years robbers have been busy with their treasures.

But for more than a generation past Mr. Carter's faith that tourists in Thebes were stepping over priceless treasures in the bowels of the earth has not faltered, despite all that is known of the past rifling of the famous site. The beginning of the story of the discovery goes back 33 years, when he began searching the Theban necropolis for a key to ancient Egypt. In that period he found a number of minor prizes, but since Lord Carnarvon joined forces with him 17 years ago the discovery of the Hyksos tablet was their greatest reward—up to the present.

Recently, after four days' work in the heart of the small sacred basin he and his party unearthed a step. Continued digging resulted in the excavation of a stairway which led right beneath the tomb of Ramesses IX, an unimportant king, who lived some 3,000 years ago. At its foot was a door inscribed with the protocol of another Pharaoh, Tutankhamen, one of the most important kings of Egypt. It was the one remaining tomb of which there had been any hope of finding in the valley of the tombs of the kings.

But the opening of the tomb showed that the excavators had stumbled upon a discovery of unprecedented importance. No other royal tomb that has been opened in Egypt has contained such treasures as the tomb of Tutankhamen gave up. The lights of the searchers shone upon an age-old collection of gems and gold and alabaster—a collection which would fetch upward of $15,000,000 in any salesroom. But the value of the discovery was not to be stated in terms of money.

Third Chamber Not Entered.

The tomb was a treasury of the glories of the Egyptian court of 1350 B. C. There were gilt couches inlaid with ivory and jewels; there was the king's throne and the king's robes. Two statues showed him in his habit as he lived. Chariots were there for the dead Pharaoh's riding; masses of food for his eating; musical instruments, documents.

The state of the outer chambers showed that the tomb had been disturbed at least once in the past.

In the third chamber may (and, it is hoped, does) rest the mummy of Tutankhamen himself. This third chamber has not yet been entered. The tomb has been sealed again until Lord Carnarvon, who has returned to England, goes back with a picked band of experts to supervise the removal to the museum at Cairo. Then the secret of the inner chamber will be disclosed.

Lands in Barrel of Tar; Loses Several Feet of Flesh

Berkeley, Cal.—W. W. Glenn, proprietor of a soda water works in Sacramento, came to the Berkeley Emergency hospital to have a coating of tar oil removed.

He told the police that while driving he was crowded off the road by a passing automobile and landed in a barrel of tar.

To remove the tar it was necessary to cut his clothing and shoes from his body. Several feet of skin went with the tar.

TELLS OTHERS OF ITS GREAT VALUE

In Nursing Sick, Mrs. Patten States, She Often Recommends Tanlac—Thinks It Wonderful.

"I firmly believe Tanlac is what keeps me so well and strong," is the high tribute paid the medicine, recently, by Mrs. Edith J. Patten, widely known and esteemed resident of 590 Cumberland Ave., Portland, Me.

"When I began the use of Tanlac I had not felt right for a long time and was all run down. After persistently taking the treatment considered best for such a condition I got no better. In fact I seemed to be growing worse until a lady friend insisted on me trying Tanlac.

"At that time I took two or three bottles and was perfectly well again. Since then I have taken a bottle two or three times a year and no one could feel better. I have done lots of nursing of the sick, and since Tanlac did so much for me I have been the cause of many others taking it—always with splendid results. It is with this knowledge and experience that I recommend Tanlac as a wonderful medicine."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Over 35 million bottles sold.—Advertisement.

Important to All Women
Readers of This Paper

Thousands upon thousands of women have kidney or bladder trouble and never suspect it.

Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease.

If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased.

You may suffer pain in the back, headache and loss of ambition. Poor health makes you nervous, irritable and maybe dependent; it makes any one so.

But hundreds of women claim that Dr. Kline's Swamp-Root, by restoring health to the kidneys, proved to be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions.

Many send for a sample bottle to see what Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder medicine, will do for them. By enclosing ten cents to Dr. Kline & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., you may receive sample size bottle by parcel post. You can purchase medium and large size bottles at all drug stores.—Advertisement.

On the evacuation of the Primur province and the port of Vladivostok by the Japanese, the Red forces engaged the "Whites" in battle and after a brief struggle conquered them and took possession. The recent fifth anniversary of the Soviet republic was made the occasion in the Siberian port of a double celebration. Workmen paraded, grouped according to their trades unions, and the military forces were reviewed by General Obrevich. The latter event is shown in the photograph.

PRIZE BEAUTY TO MARRY

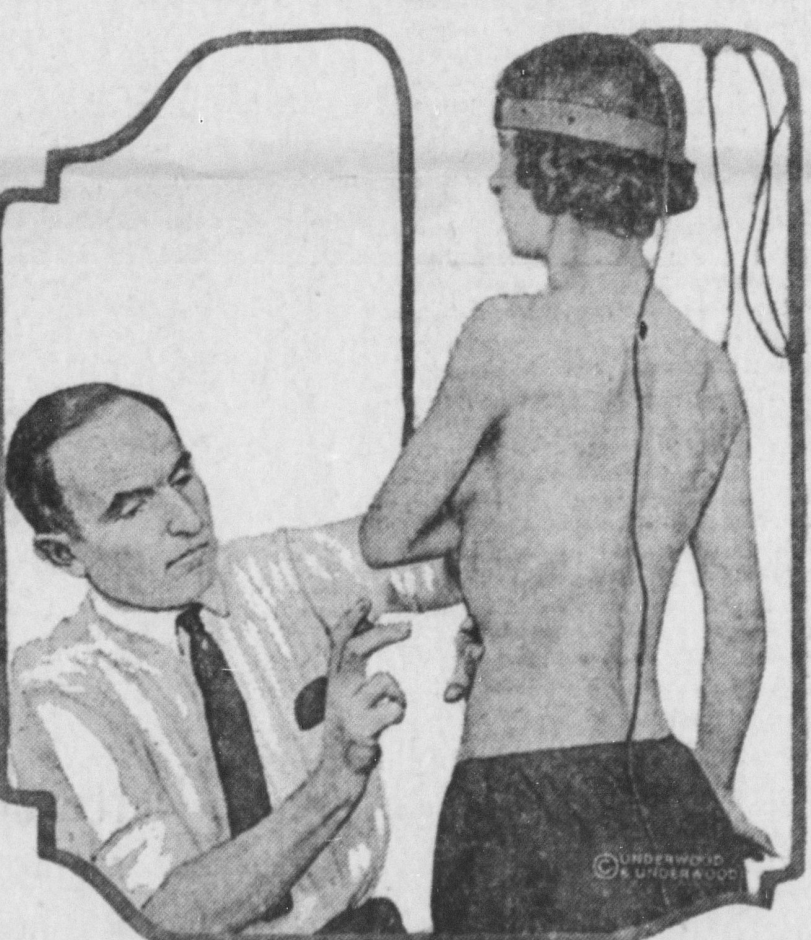

New photograph of Miss Sue Burton of Nashville, Tenn., who as "Miss Nashville" won the silver loving cup, second prize, in the Atlantic City beauty contest last summer. Miss Burton's engagement to Virgil Loucks, a Chicago lawyer, has just been announced. The wedding will take place late in January.

BRAZILIAN PRETENDER

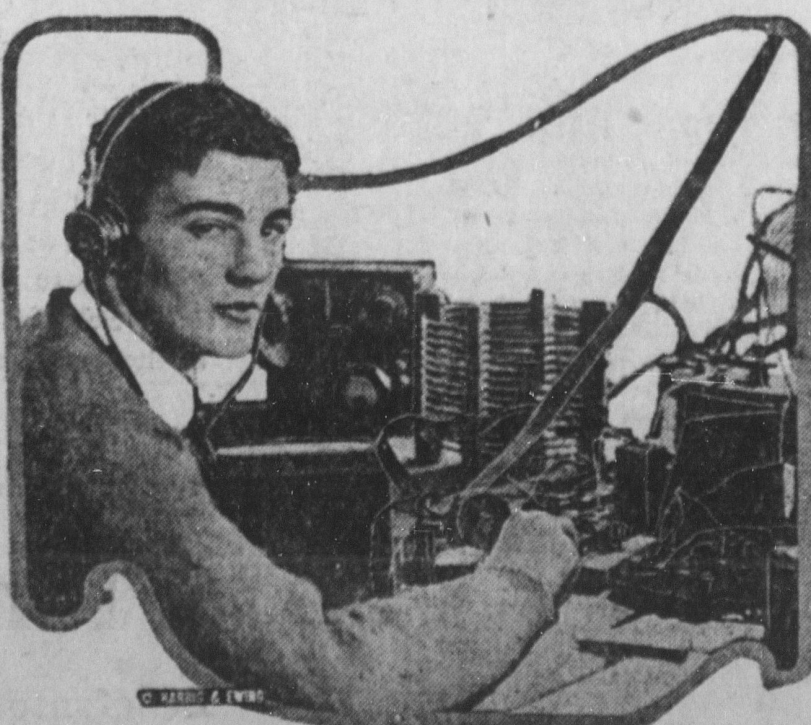

Prince Pedro d'Orleans et Braganca, whose supporters are using every effort to win for him the throne of Brazil, to which the prince lays claim. The royalist party in the South American republic seeks to restore the old royal regime.

Dr. Abrams' Radiodiagnosis Tested

First photograph showing actual "radiodiagnosis," the method of Dr. Albert Abrams of San Francisco, as demonstrated in public at the American Radio exposition in New York by Dr. Clarke K. Fletcher. He is shown using electrical instruments and a "subject" to diagnose blood—from an unseen patient—which rests on a bit of white blotting paper upon the "dynamizer" which is grounded on one side. The other side of the dynamizer is connected with a rheostat and that to an electrode which is held to the subject's head. Subject and diagnostician stand upon grounded plates and the subject faces due west—why not even Dr. Abrams knows, except that the proper reactions are not obtained unless he, or she, does.

THE EXPERIMENT

By MOLLIE MATHER

(©, 1925, Western Newspaper Union.)

Patricia's guardian sighed. It was not the first time that his niece had brought from him this sign of distress.

"My dear Bob," he said, "I don't see how I can influence Patsy to marry you, though that is the dearest wish of my heart. You have those staying qualities that Patricia's willfulness needs. Why is she averse to you?"

"Averse!" Bob exclaimed, indignantly. "Why, Pat loves me—as much as she can settle down to love anybody."

The man leaning against the desk smiled.

"When she will, she will," he quoted, "and you may depend on it! 'When she won't, she won't, and there's an end on't!'"

"Did you ever try making Patsy jealous? I've heard that is a great remedy for tardiness in love."

"I've thought I'd like to try her out on that," Bob said.

A stenographer entered the office at this moment, and gathering up some notes left the room.

"I will see you presently, Miss Orme," the lawyer said. The young woman smiled. Bob wheeled about as she smiled.

"Jove!" he exclaimed, "what a graceful, ladylike girl. Poise, Barney, poise, in every line. Where'd she come from?"

Barnett Adams sank into a chair.

"I've just thought of a possible plan, Bob," he returned. "Better stay a few minutes. Miss Orme is a particular friend of Pat's. You have not been privileged to meet her, because the girl forswears society in general. She was Patricia's college chum. It was Pat who persuaded me to employ her, and Miss Orme has made good in the business world. Occasionally Pat brings her to take dinner with us. Miss Orme is always eager to show her gratitude to me for my interest in her behalf. Also, she knows our delightful, provoking Patsy well. And is as anxious as I for her future welfare. All of which," added Barnett Adams, "leads up to the plan which I am considering. It might be well to ask Pat to invite her friend to the house for several evenings—and if you happened in, that would appear only the natural thing. Miss Orme forewarned, would, I think, be able to resist your dangerous fascination, Bob, if you should devote yourself to her for a short space of time. If our difficult charge shows signs of jealousy—well, then, press your advantage."

Bob, passing out later through an adjoining office, glanced toward the smooth, dark head of Miss Olive Orme and thought that his task would not be a hard one.

"Of course I'll ask Ollie, the dear," Patsy warmly assured her uncle that evening—and in return for my willingness, you'll come out of your shell, guardian Barney, won't you?" "It's one thing being a bachelor by preference—and another to be selfish in your own satisfaction. I'll let Bob come, and we will have a jolly evening together."

The evening, when it arrived, was not as jolly as anticipated. And there seemed to be no reason for this. Patricia, at the piano, could not understand what was the matter. Uncle Barnett had come obligingly "out of his shell"—or out of his usual comfortable place in his study, and Olive Orme was her gay, old-time, college self. Bob was apparently charmed with this heretofore unknown friend of Patsy's, and ignoring Uncle Barnett, lingered to chat at her side. Patricia remained at the piano. She was alone—a novel experience for the popular young woman. When Miss Orme arose to go, Bob, with a hurried excuse to Patricia, went with her.

"Wouldn't do to let the girl go home alone," he whispered.

Patsy gathered up her music. "Good-night," she abruptly told her guardian. Patricia's guardian was sadly distressed—and the ball which he had started rolling was now impossible to stop.

Without invitation the formerly distant Miss Orme came frequently to Patricia's home to spend an evening, and on these evenings Bob also would be sure to appear.

Back in the office the employer regarded his stenographer with increasing coldness. And while Miss Orme appeared to be perplexed by this attitude, she was not distressed.

After a succession of sleepless nights Barnett Adams felt called upon to ask his former favorite a question. He summoned Bob.

"Your plan?" he asked caustically. "May I be permitted to know if it has had the desired result, or have you become indifferent regarding that result?"

Bob grinned.

"Those two precious girls have been taking us in," he said.

"Seems that Olive dropped a hint of our experiment and they decided to play up to us. However, Patsy is going to marry me. Says she had no idea that I could play the flirting game so expertly, and cannot afford to take further risk. And Patsy also says," added Bob, the grin widening, "that the experiment has shown her the state of your feelings toward Olive. And as far as Olive is concerned—Pat thinks we might make it a double wedding."

"You can't beat Patricia," her lover added proudly.

Over 67 Years of Success

FATHER JOHN'S MEDICINE for Coughs and Colds

Woman Commands Ship.

Probably the only woman who acts as a ship's captain is Mrs. T. Alken Dick. She is the owner of the Flame, a vessel of 92 tons, engaged in the English coasting trade, and has decided that she will command it herself. She started on her first voyage not long ago, leaving London for the Isle of Wight. She has a crew of three, who answer her orders with a brisk "Aye, aye, m'm!"

Present, but Not in the Swim.

"Four years isn't a very long period of public service."

"No," replied Senator Sorghum; "a man doesn't get well started holding an office before he's liable to begin feeling like a lame duck."

A. S. Eby, of Altoona, will deliver a free lecture on the subject, "Millions Now Living Will Never Die!" on Sunday, Jan. 21, at 2 p. m., at the home of Walter Ort, opposite monument, in Milesburg. Soon Christ's kingdom, for which He taught his disciples to pray, will supplant the existing rulership of earth. The Bible commands the people to "seek meekness and righteousness that they may be hid in the day of the Lord's anger." The kingdom of God's dear Son is the only remedy for the distress and trouble which all nations are now passing through. Everybody welcome.

GOT NICE POSITION

Prof. J. A. Young, Formerly at Centre Hall, is Honored.

Prof. John A. Young, formerly principal of the High school in Centre Hall, and known to many residents in Centre County, especially in Penn's valley, was signally honored recently by being elected as assistant superintendent of the public schools in Bridgeport, Conn.

Prof. Young was born at White Deer, near Williamsport, on July 7, 1876. After studying in the elementary schools in that place he entered Bucknell Academy at Lewisburg and graduated in 1897 with a Doctor of Philosophy degree. In 1897 to 1899, he taught in rural schools in the vicinity of White Deer. He served as principal of the Centre Hall High school in 1900 and then went to Kane where he remained until 1907. Next he was one year in Sunbury and then principal of the Lock Haven High school until 1912, when he went to Connecticut to act as supervising agent of Connecticut schools with headquarters at Colchester. In 1918 he was drafted from the state board by the town of Westport and put in charge of schools there, being in that position until resigning to become assistant principal of the larger schools in Bridgeport.

A Welcome Pay Envelope

HONEST, old man, I don't know what we would have done without that AETNA ACCUMULATIVE ACCIDENT POLICY.

When a fellow lives on the "no-work-no-pay" basis and has nothing to fall back on, a cracked head and a broken arm don't get him anything. All he can do is sit around and wonder how the wife can scrape together enough to keep the family going. He just naturally worries himself twice as sick.

But this Aetna Accident Policy takes the place of the pay envelope. Gives you $50 a week as long as you're totally disabled by your injuries and $25 a week even though you are only partially disabled by them. Pays the bill for a surgical operation, too.

All you do is sit back and tell your broken head and arm: "All right, boys, take your time about healing. I'm provided for until you're fit again."

AETNA-IZE

Safeguard YOUR income against accident. Protect YOUR home from want. Let us explain how easy it is—how cheap. Write or telephone.
